Purple Shaft Idea Out Student Council Says

Mikemen will now be on the receiving end of more spiritual blessings since the approval of the Nocturnal Devotions by the Student Council.

The necessary funds have been allocated to the committee-in-charge who have also made arrangements for confessions and Mass during the solemn affair. This was one of the main points brought up at the Council meeting Wednesday, October 26.

At the same meeting the Council also voted down the newly-instituted "Purple Shaft" idea due to the lack of proper rules governing the affair. The committee working on the problem said that they received somewhat disheartening and indefinite replies to queries from other colleges as to its advisability. Discussion on it will be renewed later in the year.

The re-establishment of the college band was taken under consideration and plans were made for an organized publicity campaign, personal consultation of students interested in the band and facilities for practice and storage of instruments. The NFCCS members were granted their dues for the coming year from the already riddled Council budget. The revised budget was presented by Tom Breen and his associates, who incidentally did a creditable job of "making ends meet," and was unanimously accepted by all members. Finally the Council's secretary, Paul LaPointe came forth with the ever welcome motion to close the meeting which then had been in session almost two hours.

The committees which reported during the meeting were: Nocturnal Adoration, Jerry Regan, Jim Loughrey; Purple Shaft, Bob Flanagan, Bill Kenney and Bob Sullivan; Budget, Tom Breen, Tim Murphy, Bill Kenney, George Rodden.

Glee Club Sings For Archbishop

St. Michael's Glee Club started off its season's program last Wednesday evening by giving a short concert at a reception held in the library for the Most Rev. Frederic Lamy, Archbishop of Lens, France.

The Glee Club, which consists of the traditional Male Chorus and its auxiliary group, the Mixed Choral, sang:

1. Adoramus Te
2. Where You Walk - Handel
3. Drink To Me Only With Thine Eyes
4. The Lord Is My Shepherd

If the applause tendered the group is any indication of the public's reaction in the future, then a very successful year may be expected.

At this time, the club's moderator and its officers are busy with plans for their Christmas Concert which they hope will become a tradition here at St. Michael's.

Band Organizes Under Fr. Hamel

by RICHARD E. CARPINO

From the ranks of the SAC another student movement has come to the fore, the reorganizing of the college band.

A committee of three SAC men, appointed by the Council's president, Buck McMahon, has prepared organization recommendations.

The enthusiasm of the student members will determine the success of reorganization and the function of the band. The administration is supporting the attempts at bringing back the tradition of a college music group.

The Rev. Edmund Hamel, band moderator, has stated that with the complete cooperation of the members he should have his musical crew in unit operation within a week. Father Hamel has in past years led many St. Michael's bands and he is anxious for a repeat performance.

Very Rev. Daniel Lyons, a former member of St. Michael's band, is pleased to notice the return of the Purple and Gold band. He stated: "I am very much interested in seeing the band reorganized at St. Michael's and am confident that the SAC will show the way."

Archbishop From France Visits Here This Week

Most Rev. Frederic Lamy, Archbishop of Sens, France, is greeted by Very Rev. Jeremiah T. Purtill, Superior General of the Society of St. Edmund.

St. Francis Xavier Church in Winooski was crowded with Michaelmen last Thursday as the Very Rev. Daniel Lyons, St. Michael's president, bestowed an honorary doctorate of Laws on the Most Rev. Frederic Lamy, Archbishop of of Sens, France.

The bestowal of the degree followed a Pontifical High Mass celebrated by the Archbishop who was assisted by the Very Rev. Jeremiah T. Purtill superior general of the Society of St. Edmund. Father Lyons and Rev. James Fitzgerald SSE, were deacons of honor.

Other Mass officers were: Rev. Vincent Maloney S.S.E. deacon; Rev. Edmund Hamel S.S.E. subdeacon. Rev. Raymond Poirier S.S.E. master of ceremonies; Rev. Maurice Boucher S.S.E. assistant master of ceremonies; Rev. Armand Dube S.S.E. subdeacon of the cross.

Speaking at the ceremonies, Father Purtill voiced the gratitude of the order for the work which Archbishop Lamy has done in education.

The citation, as read by Father Lyons, follows:

"St. Michael's College is proud today to honor the Most Reverend Frederic Camille Lamy, D.D., Archbishop of Sens, Bishop of Auxerre, Primate of Gaul and Germany, Officer of the Legion of Honor, President of the Episcopal Commission for Displaced Persons, former Superior of the Grand Seminary of Amiens and former Bishop of Meaux. He has been a zealous promoter of education and of Christian social reconstruction in France.

"His Excellency, Archbishop Lamy, is the friend and great benefactor of the Society of St. Edmund in France. His patronage has made possible the reopening of the Abbey of Pontigny and the establishment

Benefit Show Is Taking Shape

The benefit show to be presented by the college on November 18, has begun to take shape. Prof. Connie Hannigan, the show's director, is being assisted ably be Tom Kenney and Gus Contant and promises that it will be the best ever presented by the college.

The show is receiving the help of the various clubs in town among which are the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis Clubs and the Knights of Columbus.

Some of the various students working with Kenney and Contant are Frank Regan, John Cronin, Robert Flanagan and John Berry. Regan is coordinating the campus drive with the work of the Burlington clubs. Cronin is writing the continuity of the show while Flanagan and Berry are working on publicity.

The various clubs on campus that are entered in the evening's entertainment are: Glee Club; Outing Club; Dramatic Club; Mixed Chorale and the Pen and Mike Club.

The title selected for the show is "A Night of Knights."

Faculty Group Did Nominating

Who's Who at St. Michael's? That's an easy question.

Robert J. McMahon, John J. Daly, Clement A. Ferris, Francis G. Merrigan, Jeremiah F. Regan, George R. Rodden, Donald B. Powers, John F. Cronin, Arthur J. Fraser, Walter N. Wallace, Thomas J. Kenney and Marcel J. P. LeBlanc; that's who's who at St. Michael's.

At least that's the opinion of "Who's Who Among Students In American Universities And Colleges" which this week released the names of the twelve SMC seniors who have been chosen for listing in the annual directory which this group publishes.

The students were nominated by a faculty group here at St. Michael's and approved by the Who's Who organization. The committee was made up of Rev. Gerald Dupont, Academic Dean; Rev. Lorenzo D'Agostino, Dean of Men; Rev. Francis Moriarty, Moderator of the Student Council; Thomas Garrett, Registrar and Jeremiah Durick, Professor of English.

Nomination is on the basis of studies, leadership and participation in extra curricular activities.

Each year 600 American schools are represented in the contest with one member for each 100 students.

McMAHON is president of the Student Council this year. Among other activities he has been a member of the MICHAELMAN staff.

DALY has worked for the Pen and Mike, handling their publicity for the Blanche Yurka show last year. He has also played football.

FERRIS is national treasurer for the NFCCS. He was elected to this office last May after a year as regional treasurer. A tackle in football, co-captained last year's varsity with Daly.

MERRIGAN is president of the 19 schools which comprise the New England region of the NFCCS. Last year he headed the region in the very successful foreign relief drive organized by the NFCCS.

REGAN was president of the Newman debating club last year. He is at present a member of the Student Council and has been instrumental in sparking the "nocturnal adoration" campaign.

POWERS who heads the Debating Club this year has also worked for the LANCE, Writers Club, and NFCCS.

RODDEN is senior representative to the Student Council and has been especially active at St. Michael's in the Outing Club. He chairmaned last May's Junior Prom.

CRONIN is editor-in-chief of this year's "Shield." His work as script writer for the Pen & Mike, the Parade of Horribles and last year's NFCCS talent show, has been remarkable.

FRASER has worked for practically every club at St. Michael's during his four years here. He has drawn cartoons for the MICHAELMAN, done poster work for the whole

There is something strikingly absent on this campus to a great degree -- manners in the dining hall. Hold it! Don't stop reading, fellow, this might mean you.

We're not going to give you the know how on manners à la Emily Post. You don't have to read up on what common sense should tell you is right. The lack of manners at meals has outgrown an isolated few and has become a problem. And this is one problem the students can lick themselves by just stopping to think.

It is assumed we all come from orderly, courteous homes. Then why are so many students, especially freshmen, acting as if they are more familiar with the inside of a barn than a home?

There have always been a few who, off campus are perfect gentlemen, once inside the dining hall act like uncouth backwoodsmen. But this year these have grown to alarming numbers. There still remain the few mannerless upperclassmen, but the greater percentage of thoughtless students this year are freshmen.

This is no outright slam at the whole frosh class, for many of them have proved their worth as fine Michaelmen. But the fact remains that conduct as is being witnessed currently is pretty bad.

Not only are the table manners crude, some acts are downright vulgar and selfish. The grabbing, stabbing of food with knives and forks, the rough reaching instead of politely asking, wolfing food as if it were the last meal, depriving others of their share; all these actions are but a few of the shameful exhibitions 'popular' at meals. The discourtesy given to the waiters, who are only doing their job, is unreasonable.

The eyes of the entire college will be turned on the dining hall now to see if the neglectful students can wise up and act like grown men. We are in college to get the best in the way of an education, if part of that education means learning to acquire manners which will be a credit to us; if it means realizing that consideration and courtesy to others are assets to us, not only as men, but as Catholic college graduates then we had better get busy right now to round out that education.

And the place to start is in the dining hall.

Question: " Are you in favor of voluntary student sponsored Church services?"

JIM ROCHE CINCINNATI, OHIO
Since the first Friday is not a Holy day of obligation, I don't think that Church services should be obligatory on this particular day; although it is in conscience that everyone should attend services and should realize that this is all for their own personal well-being!

DAVE MULLIN NEWARK, N.J.
I am in favor of voluntary student sponsored Church services because it not only helps one spiritually but mentally as well.

GEORGE RUOCCO PATERSON, N.J.
I believe in voluntary student sponsored Church services because most of us are old enough to make up our own minds in matters that pertain to God and His services.

JOHN McGOUGH HOLYOKE, MASS.
I think that everyone should go to Church services of their own initiative because there are always more graces involved for one who does these things voluntarily than one who might be forced into the act. One should realize the enormous benefits such as assured salvation for attending services nine first Fridays successively.

GEORGE STRIZZI PITTSFIELD, MASS.
It is my honest and unbiased opinion that Church services should by all means be student sponsored. I further believe in freedom of man and that man is endowed with a free will to do what he deems right or wrong and for which he will be rewarded or punished.

HARLAND CASS ATHOL, MASS.
One who goes to Church services when he's forced surely won't be overwhelmed with graces. That's why I believe in voluntary, student sponsored Church services.

TOM MORIARTY SPRINGFIELD, MASS.
I am in favor of voluntary student sponsored Church services because a certain percentage of the students will go anyway and the others should be old enough to make up their own minds.

CHARLIE McLAUGHLIN PLAINFIELD, N.J.
I am in favor of voluntary student sponsored Church services because if forced no one will certainly form the habit of attending Church services.

LARRY McGEENEY BROOKLYN, N.Y.
I am in favor of voluntary student sponsored Church services because college students are mature enough to make up their own minds.

Campus Static

The athletic field was the road to glory for the UVM Frosh last Friday. There are now eleven white crosses in " T" formation on the field, erected " In Memoriam" after the slaughter.

Did Walt Good have a pleasant time at Skidmore College renewing an " old friendship?" We like a fella who takes an interest in his work. Take Angie Fioroni, he works afternoons and doesn't get back till nightfall. Must be quite an incentive some place along the line.

" A Doubtful Proposition" John " Lujack" Reidy is thinking of transferring to Mercy Hospital School of Nursing in Springfield, Mass. Jack says it's to become a male nurse ??? Why not Fanny Allen then or is there some other reason? ... N.B. " Doc" Jacobs - there is unknown talent in " Tiger" Tom Lambert. (It must be great if it's Lambert.) ... Ed Cunningham's seventy yard run was the high point of the one-sided Loyola - SMC game.

If you hit a " C" in Biology you're really in the know! Don't believe it? Ask the boys in Biol.11. C. Frank Harrison found himself a woman wrestler this past weekend at G.M. Ken Caspherson did a cracker-jack job Friday against UVM frosh. That twenty-nine yard field goal was a nice boot.

Syracuse University Honored -- Bob Lynch and Dick Gleason paid a visit to S.U. recently. Still love you down there, boys???

" Marco Polo II?" It's rumored that Andy Scanlon is to commute between the Hilltop and Albany.

Who's the much sought after Trinity Damsel with the initials " E.C.?" It's nice, we hear.

Pete Holland is going up in the world.-- He now is leader of the Boy Scouts in Winooski. Capodilupo is learning how to do the dip with a certain Miss in Burlington. Brave girl!

Joe Blase is quite the " Shrew" -- at least he was on the streets of Burlington previous to Margaret Webster's production last Saturday.

We hear that " Dear Junior" Beeble is getting regular letters from " As Ever, Mary." Sounds like a burning love affair, Andy. ... Ask Chris McNally who Prof. Sooner is. Or maybe you already know!

Rumor has it that Jack Meehan is doing calisthenics at the Fort before going to bed. Lead with your left, Jack. ... Paul Thibault getting a large charge out of Chaucer. ... Walt Wallace is writing a book. The title? " Twenty Thousand Leagues Under Winooski." How low can you go, Walt?

Larry Ryan answering a " call" last Saturday, ran into Margaret Webster's Brutus: What, you too, Brutus? ... Ned O'Gorman thinks the purple shaft is a myth. Let us know when you get the point, Ned. ...

Jack Burke and Len Tyl have joined the ranks of the off-campus " house mothers." ... Charlie Smith is ready to start wearing his Chesterfield again. Isn't that a little classy for Essex Junction, Charlie?

Bill " don't rush girls" Doyle is now in full control of his front teeth. Tell us about Worcester, Bill! .. Betty, the cashier in the snack bar, has a suggestion for guys who can't hear their alarm clock: Place a pan over the clock, when the alarm goes off the vibrations are amplified. P.S. We advise the guys in Old Hall not to try this method. Don't ask why.

Dennie Scanlon was an usher at a wedding in Boston last Saturday. What a narrow escape that was Dennie!

Frank Coleman has been seen inquiring around the campus as to the whereabouts of his yellow doodlebug. It seems that the car has a peculiar habit of wandering off when left alone. --- Could it be the wind, Jumbo?? --- Homecoming weekend at UVM acclaimed a big success by Michaelmen. --- Dave Buteau and other energetic Michaelmen gave their all for the UVM freshmen at their annual cane rush.

A number of Aquinas boys heard plugging " Saturday Night is the Loneliest Night in the Week."

Speaking of songs, the fellows up at the Fort also have a song all their own " Keep the Home Fires Burning." --- Whitey Shevlin seen frequenting the UVM campus again this year. He claims their library is excellent for reference work. --- Could be. Hear that Len Tyl and Jack Burke are going to be proctors at Hendy's Block which is the St. Mike's answer to Russian Siberia. It ought to be good for the laughs anyhow.

Beginning Wednesday, the Sophomore Class will set aside one day, every week, when the entire class will attend the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass together.

This Wednesday at 7 a.m., a Mass for the soul of Marcel Giroux will be sung by Father Poirier, the class moderator.

Every Wednesday thereafter the Sophomores will attend the regular daily Mass at 7:30.

Rally Planned For Next Week

With the return of the alumni to their Alma-Mater spirit will be riding high for the St. Michael's - Norwich game next Saturday.

Festivities will begin on the eve of the Homecoming game with a pep rally to be held on the college campus. Highlighting the pep rally will be a bonfire, singing, and a snake dance. Before the action ceases the coaches and the team will have passed in review. The rally, sponsored by the Outing Club and directed by Ed Jadatz and Jack Burke, will be the last football rally for the seniors and the Norwich campus is expected to shake from the cries of the Michaelmen.

Committees have been formed in all the halls to " stir-up some pep" among the students. Professor Cornelius Hannigan expressed a hope that the halls would rival each other in demonstrating such posters as " BEAT NORWICH," " WELCOME ALUMNI," and the like.

Hannigan continued that it is important for the student body to show the real St. Michael's spirit in order to impress the alumni, whose school spirit has been compared with " that of Notre Dame." Furthermore, the extent of the cries and yells at the game might well determine the eventual winner. Coach " Doc" Jacobs has praised the support of the stands against AIC. With the return of the alumni this support should reach a new high. The pep rally has been arranged as a practice in order that all might " really pitch-in" to help the team.

The Homecoming activities will continue with a Football Dance to be held Saturday night after the game in Austin Hall.

Colby Tough Foe, Has Upset Maine

This Saturday the Purple Knights of St. Michael's College journey to Waterville, Maine, where they will pit their forces against a strong Colby eleven.

Both teams are fresh from victories and should be at their full strength.

The Knights stunned a Montreal gathering last Saturday by downing the Loyola team 54 - 0. At the same time Colby was upsetting a highly touted University of Maine ball club 13 - 12. This victory gives some measure of the Colby strength since Maine had previously battled the powerful University of Connecticut to a 12 - 12 tie. The men from Colby will be endeavoring to bring their season's record up to the .500 percentage mark. On the other hand the Knights will be out to break this mark for the first time in the season.

The Saturday victory brought the Mikemen's record to 2 wins, 2 ties and 2 defeats. The Colby triumph was their second, against 3 defeats and 1 tie.

American International, held to a scoreless tie by St. Michael's, took the measure of Colby 6 - 0 in the season's opener for both clubs.

Present indications point to a close battle between St. Michael's and Colby since both teams apparently are evenly matched.

FERRIS BACK

The return of three key Michaelmen to the Knights' lineup will greatly fortify the team. Veteran linemen Clem Ferris and Dick Klaess, along with sophomore fullback Pete Plourde, have sufficiently recovered from recent injuries to be given the doctor's " ok" to play.

This should put the Knights in top physical condition for Saturday's game as no mishaps were suffered at Loyola.

Only previous meeting between Colby and St. Michael's was 1932 when the White Mules beat the Knights 13 - 0.

by Whit Bartlett

With but two games left on the season's schedule the Purple Knights square off against rugged Colby College this afternoon over in Waterville, Maine. This game looms all important for the Knights as it will mean the difference between a winning or losing season for the Mikemen. It's a rough assignment for the Jacobs' charges because after a ragged start the Colby team came into its own last Saturday with an upset win over highly rated Maine. Maine was a heavy favorite to capture the Maine State Championship this year but the Colby Mules had other ideas and promptly upended the favorites. On the basis of comparative scores the Knights will probably enter the game as favorites but Colby has shown in the past that they don't have too much respect for the Favorite.

The last game of the season, which a couple of weeks ago didn't look like much of an attraction, takes on added importance after Norwich's showing last week against Middlebury. The Mountaineers played inspired ball and held the powerful Panthers to a one touchdown victory.. Looks like the Knights will have their work cut out for them on the last two weekends of the season.

This writer took in the pro-basketball attraction in Burlington last week and came away with the impression that George Kaftan of the Boston Celtics is just about the greatest basketball player to ever pull on a pair of sneakers. The Big Greek is simply too much on the basketball floor. Despite the fact that he was playing against men that were much taller he controlled both backboards through most of the game. Incidentally his old running mate at Holy Cross, Joe Mullaney, was cut from the Celtics squad this week and we understand he has an application in for basketball coach down at St. Anselm's College. St. Anselm's is one of the Knights' opponents on the court this winter.

Well, that's all for this week except that there hasn't been too much response to the MICHAELMAN'S Football Contest. What's the matter, can't any one use an extra fiver?

INTRAMURALS

Off-campus groups interested in intramural basketball should begin to organize now. Father Larkin, the intramural director, has set Dec. 1, as the deadline for entrants in the basketball league. This deadline applies to both on and off-campus, but Father has particularly asked that this be brought to the attention of off-campus students who might miss notices posted.

Any groups interested in intramural basketball MUST hand their lineups in to Father Larkin before Dec. 1.

Knights Trounce Loyola In Runaway In Montreal

by JERRY HEALY

MONTREAL, Que. Oct. 29 -- The Purple Knights walked over Loyola College here this afternoon like Grant took over Richmond. The St. Michael's College gridsters, playing their first football game in Canada, led by Jake Cunningham and Art Coggio, rolled up their greatest score in the 45-year history of the Vermont College, 54-0.

The Knights, with second-string halfback Cunningham in the driver's seat, amassed a total of 398 yards gained on the ground to Loyola's 19. The Purple and Gold gridsters picked up 17 first downs against the Warriors' five.

Cunningham led the eight-touchdown scoring spree for the Knights with 12 points. The opening minutes of the second period, the 170-pound halfback garnered in a McMullan punt and did some fancy broken field running for 72 yards and paydirt.

Half way in the fourth period, Cunningham reversed his left end from the ten-yard line for his second TD with the help of some fine blocking on the part of Frank Cotter and John Provenzano. Cotter and Provenzano were standouts in the line for charges of George " Doc" Jacobs. Art Coggio, drop kick specialist, kept his educated toe busy before 5,000 Memorial Stadium fans, completing six out of eight extra point tries.

Joe Hermans, starting center for the Jacobsmen, intercepted a second period pass from Loyola's McMullan and set up the second touchdown for the Knights. Hermans raced 63 yards with the stolen aerial to the ten-yard line where Frank Simas broke through left tackle on a quick opener for the score.

Old Hall III Tops In 'Murals

Bill McCadden, Schenectady, N.Y., led Old Hall III to the Intramural basketball title last Thursday, over St. John's A in the St. Michael's College gym 66-38. McCadden hooped 25 points for the winners.

It was a nip and tuck battle going into the final stanza when the Old Hall five went on a scoring rampage. McCadden and Capt. George Barry, hit the strings for 11 of the 25 points racked up against St. John's in the fourth period. The John's boys scored seven points in the final minutes of play.

Andy Gallopo was the high scorer for the losers netting six baskets and two foul shots for 14 markers.

Both teams had seven victories and no defeats entering the deciding game of the Intramural League.

Meet Your Prof.

by PETE TROY

" What do ya know, Don?" Stunned frosh hearing this wonder how upperclassmen can address so informally one of St. Michael's more distinguished looking faculty members.

The chummy greeting is inevitably followed by a twinkling Irish smile and equally friendly response.

Mr. Donald W. Delaney is the newest faculty member of St. Michael's Biology Dept. Delaney hails from the other side of Lake Champlain, Cadyville, N.Y. After graduating from Cadyville High School, Mr. Delaney enrolled in Plattsburg State Teachers College, majoring in education.

He completed two years at Plattsburg State Teachers College, then entered the Army and was assigned to the USA Medical Dept. Prior to overseas service, soldier Delaney served as instructor in the Army Surgical and Medical Technician School. He saw active duty with the 166th and 170th General Hospital in England and France. They were attached to the U.S. Third Army, and were left at LeMans, France, when Patton's Third Army commenced its lunging offense. From this sobering environment Staff/Sg't Delaney acquired a love for the medical sciences.

Prof. Delaney

MAGNA CUM LAUDE GRAD

Mr. Delaney graduated from St. Michael's in June, 1949, magna cum laude. He was elected to the Alpha Nu Chapter of the National Catholic Honor Society, Delta Epsilon Sigma.

Prof. Delaney makes no pretense of being an athlete. His sports' menu on the competitive side is as a spectator. Some polished fast-played football and basketball are to his liking. As to hobbies, they are restricted now to music, music that is relaxing and makes pleasant listening whether it be Beethoven, Porter, or Dorsey.

Mr. Delaney is teaching courses in Comparative Anatomy and Problems in Biology. With two sections in each course, and each section coupled with a lab., Mr. Donald W. Delaney manages a a full time schedule.

As to his present position Mr. Delaney feels very fortunate for the opportunity to be associated with St. Michael's College. Asked for any words of wisdom, well, he just smiled and said, " I don't feel quite that old."

Chem. Society Hears Quinlan

The Honorary Chemistry Society of St. Michael's College, held its meeting on Tuesday night, October 18, in Science Hall 107.

Leo Contois, President of the Society, introduced Dr. Quinlan to some fifty members.

Dr. Quinlan described the historical development of the Chemsstry Club. He told the members present that students today are getting away from the symbolic " shrugging of shoulders" when the word Chemistry is mentioned. " A few years ago," he said, " students kept away from anything that was concerned with the word 'Chemistry.' But today, more and more students are entering the field, and these students are proving to others that it really isn't as difficult as it seems."

Mr. Kohler, Moderator of the Society, also said a few words on the present organization of the Chemistry Club as an Honorary Society.

Both Dr. Quinlan and Mr. Kohler stressed, in their talks, the importance of the Society's activities in supplementing the education the student gets in the classroom.

The Graduate Placement Committee was named and were instructed to organize a file consisting of a substantial number of Graduate Schools, and also information regarding possibilities of employment, which will serve as a guide in students' planning of post-graduate work.

SMC Represented By Merrigan In Boston

Francis C. Merrigan, St. Michael's College senior, has been selected to represent St. Michael's at the Vermont State banquet of the New England Council. The banquet will be held Nov. 17, at the Hotel Statler in Boston.

Other major colleges will send speakers to consider all phases of the problem. H. Ladd Smith of the Vermont Marble Company at Proctor, is Vermont chairman for the New England Council.

Merrigan was selected by Father Lyons.

Football Dance Offers Gay Time

As the grand finale of the Purple Knights' football season of 1949, there will be the annual " Football Dance" in Austin Hall next Saturday, November 12.

This dance is one of the big events of the SMC Homecoming Week-End.

The " Football Dance" is under the sponsorship of the " Outing Club." This is one of the club's outstanding presentations of the year. Bill O'Hearn is the Chairman of the " Football" committee. The music will be by the Arabian Knights.

This dance will be from 9:00 to midnight in Austin Hall. For tickets see the " O.C." representative in your hall, the price is $1.00 a couple.

Boisvert Heads French Club

by BOB PROVENCHER

At a recent meeting of the Club Carillon, its members elected four officers to head the organization for the ensuing year. The officers are: President, Gerry Boisvert; Vice-President, Dave Mauzerall; Secretary, Ferland; Treasurer, Chachere.

The plans thus far, that the club has made, include sponsoring a French theatrical group from Montreal, the " Seraphin," to give a performance on each here at St. Mike's. These entertainments will be open to the public.

A plan which is still in the tentative stage, is a trip to Montreal for the entire club in March, the occasion being the celebration of the Feast of St. Joseph.

The club feels it has given the leadership to the four most competent members and is certain that a successful year is ahead.

The moderator for Club Carillon is Rev. John Lanoue.

school and worked on every yearbook since his freshman year. He has also been activities chairman of the Outing Club and manager of the football team.

WALLACE has held offices in the Glee Club, and Knights and Knaves. During the summer theatre season he acted in " Our Town," and " Far Off Hills."

KENNEY was president of the Pen & Mike in his junior year. Probably one of his biggest efforts to date however is his job as co-chairman of the Night of Knights show to be produced in Burlington, November 18.

LeBLANC is a classics major. Among his college activities have been the dramatic club, French Club, Writers Club and the Sodality.

All twelve of the students have made their presence felt at St. Michael's in many ways besides those mentioned.
